

Frequently Asked Questions:

The Drop/Add Period

QUESTIONS	ANSWERS
If I want to change my schedule, is the process any different during Drop/Add?	No. You'll add and drop classes just as you did during your registration time period. Log into elion and use the Drop/Add feature, located on the left side of the screen under "D." To add a new course, simply enter the new 6-digit schedule number and hit the add button.
I think I dropped a course from my schedule, but I want to be sure. What should I do?	After making any changes to your schedule, select the Student Schedule feature on elion and view your schedule via the Weekly Calendar option or Course Information option.
I really want to add a class, but it's still full. What should I do?	Consider using the Course Watch List feature on elion to be notified when a seat opens in a particular section. The article " Strategies for Scheduling a Course That's Full " contains some additional helpful tips. Also, always have a back-up plan in case it is not possible to gain entrance into the full section(s).
I keep seeing that some courses are "controlled." What does that mean?	Some departments limit enrollment in certain courses for a special population (e.g., students with a particular semester standing and/or in a certain major). Generally, these course controls are fairly strict, but you may request an exception by taking a completed registration drop/add form to the department offering the course for instructor's approval and for processing.
